Nixon Plans to Enter Race for Calif. Governor

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon's decision to run for governor of California in 1962 — and not seek the presidency in 1964 — provided all the makings today for a slambang campaign.

The 48-year-old Republican who just missed the White House last year set a militant tone in his long awaited announcement on Wednesday night. But so did his opponent, both Democratic and Republican.

Nixon sized up Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown as "that amiable but bungling man." He promised a campaign that would "beat Pat Brown to a pulp."

"The government, that State House in Sacramento, is in a mess and somebody has to clean it up," he told a televised news conference.

Stung by a question on his personal finances, Nixon said he had been threatened and warned that "every dead cat and every old story would be thrown up and used against me."

"Let me just say that nobody is going to frighten me. Nobody is going to drive me out of this contest."

Accepting Nixon's challenge, Brown declared his candidacy would galvanize majority Democrats into "a fighting crusade." Democrats hold a 1.4-million lead in registration.

"I welcome the opportunity to confront Richard Nixon in a campaign that once and for all will relate him to private life," Brown said in a press statement.

The governor said Nixon's announcement "means simply that he will be a candidate for president again in 1964—midway in the four-year state term."

Nixon said flatly, "I shall not seek the presidency in 1964," but he did not absolutely remove himself from another try.

He was asked whether he would make a Sherman-like statement that if nominated again in 1964 he would not accept.

His reply: "This is the Nixon statement. It means just what it says. I shall not be a candidate in 1964 and I know that the people of America will take me at my word."

There was no immediate response from national GOP leaders to Nixon's decision to seek the governorship.

State Republican leaders, openly backing Nixon over three other announced GOP candidates, were plainly jubilant that he had agreed to run. But they faced the prospect of intraparty strife over the gubernatorial nomination.

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight gave notice he's in the GOP race to stay. So did the Assembly minority leader, Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles. The fourth candidate, former Lt. Gov. Harold J. Powers, was unavailable for comment.

Knight, who gave way to former Sen. William F. Knowland's Nixon-supported candidacy and withdrew from the race for governor in 1959, gave this advice to Democrats in a televised interview: Register Republican next year so you can vote against Nixon in the June primary.

Californians will be able to vote only for their own party candidates in that primary for the first time in modern history. Cross-filing, which allowed office-seekers to run on both tickets, was repealed by the 1959 Democratic legislature.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Brown Engineering Corp. asked the Arkansas Public Service Commission today to save electric and telephone service for its properties at the old Shumaker Ordnance Depot near Camden.

The firm told the PSC that Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and Arkansas Power & Light Co. had threatened to discontinue service on Oct. 1, the day the federal government quits operating at Shumaker.

Brown said Bell refused to continue service under any circumstances, but AP&L would agree to "provide" power if the PSC approved, because AP&L is not at present authorized to serve the area. It is allowed to serve the government area, but said it could not serve private facilities without PSC permission.

Brown said it is operating a warehouse at Shumaker for the Commodity Credit Corp. and has rented portions of a housing area to about 40 families. Telephone and electric service are necessities, the petition said.

Brown bought about 25,000 acres of the Shumaker property when the government sold it earlier this year. It said it hoped to develop the area for industry.

Barges Move Up Arkansas River

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Fort Smith got a look into the future Wednesday when two large barges moved up the Arkansas River.

The barges will be used to move a 1,500-ton drag line across the river at a coal mining operation in Oklahoma just west of Fort Smith. The barges, the largest type used on the Mississippi River, were empty.

They drew about four feet of water. Loaded they would draw about seven feet—two less than the depth of the navigation channel now being developed on the Arkansas River.

When the network of locks and dams is completed to give the river a nine-foot channel, barge traffic will be possible from the Mississippi River up the Arkansas to near Tulsa, Okla.

Alford's Pal Choice for Postmaster

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — C. E. McSwain, who managed Rep. Dale Alford's 1960 campaign may be the congressman's latest choice for Little Rock postmaster, but a rural postmaster could block the appointment.

The postmaster situation has been muddled since the Post Office Department refused to confirm the appointment of Alford's pal, Ed I. McKinley.

McKinley, a banker and lawyer, was president of the Little Rock School Board in 1958-59 and was linked with an attempted teacher purge. He and two other school board members were recalled in an election.

McSwain, a food broker, said Wednesday that he had circulated a petition among his neighbors asking that the one-mile stretch of the Roland Road leading to his house be transferred to a Little Rock rural route instead of a Roland route.

McSwain would have to have a Little Rock address to be postmaster. He said he had discussed the postmastership with Alford. He also said he had talked about it with four other persons "out of Washington."

Alford indicated on Aug. 22 that he might give up the fight to get McKinley appointed postmaster. He said he had other persons in mind.

Whether McSwain can get a Little Rock address depends on the Roland postmaster, Mrs. Irene Morgan. McSwain said a majority of residents on Roland Road between his house and the Little Rock route signed his petition, but that he took no action on it when learned that Mrs. Morgan objected to the plan.

McSwain said he got another call from Washington asking what happened to the petition. He said he explained Mrs. Morgan's objection because her post office would lose 10 houses. He was told, he said, that no rural route patrons would be transferred unless she agreed to it.

Mrs. Morgan declined comment on the petition, but said the rural carrier from her post office still would have to pass the 10 homes. McSwain, 66, has lived in this area 32 years. His first political activity was managing Alford's victorious campaign against state Sen. Robert Haynes Williams of Russellville.

More Missiles on Firing Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 54 U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles are due on the firing line within the next three months.

The first squadron of nine Titan missiles in underground silos is expected to become operational before next year at lowry Air Force Base near Denver, Colo. Air Force officials said they expect the schedule to hold despite labor troubles.

Launch pads for two more squadrons, of nine Atlas missiles each, are rounding into shape at Fairchild Air Force Base, Spokane, Wash., and Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kan.

Together with 27 other Atlases already in place elsewhere, this will bring the total of combat-ready Atlas missiles to 45.

All 54 U.S. ICBMs mount thermonuclear warheads packing an explosive punch of between two and three million tons of TNT.

The division will instruct trainees sent here in the nation's expanded military program. First trainees are scheduled to report Oct. 18.

Rusk Still in Dark on Soviet Intentions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home both canceled travel plans today to keep in close touch with each other on the developing crisis in Soviet-Western relations over Berlin and the United Nations.

A spokesman for Rusk reported that he had decided against a scheduled trip to Washington early today; it would have kept him away from New York until Friday morning. A British spokesman said Home had decided to delay his return to Britain. He had planned to go Friday morning. He now expects to stay here until Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Rusk and Home had breakfast together. They may meet again tonight. On Saturday morning, Rusk is due to hold the third of his series of exploratory talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on the Berlin crisis.

The talks started seven days ago. The second session was held Wednesday. Rusk still does not know whether the Soviet government has any intention of negotiating a compromise settlement of the war-threatening Berlin dispute.

But he still hopes to find out and will make another attempt. Home evidently wants to know the outcome of that probing operation. Both Rusk and Home are also deeply interested in behind-the-scenes efforts at the U.N. General Assembly to install a temporary successor to the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld in the face of Soviet opposition.

Governor's Elect New Chairman

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Southern governors elected Tennessee's Buford Ellington as their conference chairman Wednesday after Arkansas' Orval Faubus acted to restore harmony in the election.

Ellington, who succeeded Gov. Price Daniels of Texas termed the four-day conference "one of the busiest we've ever had, as far as work is concerned."

Faubus was named vice chairman, after he averted a floor fight for the chairmanship by asking that his nomination for the top post be withdrawn. "Let's not make this conference an arena of conflict," he said.

Ellington, who was the Nominating Committee choice for chairman, was elected governor of Tennessee in 1958 following a campaign in which he described himself as "an old fashioned segregationist" and a conservative. In the three years since, he has moved closer to the view of Southern moderates.

Beaver, Nutria Trapped at Yellow Creek Club

CLIFFORD RUSSELL WITH BEAVER, LEFT, AND NUTRIA which he trapped about 2 a. m. Wednesday on a levee at the Yellow Creek Hunting Club.

LOCAL STREAMS WERE STOCKED WITH BEAVER SOME years ago by the Game & Fish Commission, in the hope that their dam-building habits would aid water conservation. It was thought later that the beavers moved out, seeking a colder climate. Mr. Russell said Wednesday afternoon, while this picture was being made in front of The Star Building, that the report is entirely erroneous. There are plenty of beaver in this section — and the one pictured above was trapped and killed while busily tearing a hole in a Yellow Creek Club levee.

THE NUTRIA, A COUSIN OF THE OTTER, WHOSE FUR has a certain market value, has become a scourge since he invaded Louisiana in wholesale numbers and now is marching into Arkansas — eating everything in sight.

Plot to Kill Texarkana Chief Told

DALLAS (AP)—Charles (Rocky) Rothchild, 36, a professional killer whom Texas Rangers say has the murders of 11 persons on his record, has said he backed out of a contract to murder Texarkana, Ark. Police Chief Max Tackett in 1958.

Rothchild, a former Cairo, Ill., policeman now serving a robbery conspiracy term in the South Carolina prison, said he left Texarkana "when things got hot."

Ranger Lewis Rigler went to South Carolina to question Rothchild about a Texas slaying but said later he was convinced Rothchild was not the killer.

The killer has life sentences awaiting him in North Carolina and Georgia.

Rigler said Rothchild told him a bookkeeper offered to pay him to kill Tackett. Rangers said Tackett had learned of the murder plot against his life.

Tackett is on vacation and could not be reached, but an assistant said the chief had talked with Rothchild while the badman was in Texarkana in 1956.

Syria Officers Revolt Against Arab Republic

By WEBB MCKINLEY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Army officers in Syria rebelled today in an apparent attempt to break out of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Late this afternoon they called off a negotiated truce and declared they were continuing their fight against tyranny.

Damascus radio, which announced the before-dawn mutiny, said Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, Egyptian commander-in-chief of U.A.R. forces and chief overseer of the Syrian region, had "broken his promise" to meet the rebel demands.

The broadcast said a previous communique, which indicated a negotiated settlement was being worked out, therefore was canceled.

The radio said Amer was allowed to leave Syria and return by plane to Cairo.

A curfew was ordered in the Syrian capital.

Nasser in Cairo called the revolt more serious than the British-French-Israeli invasion of 1956 and ordered the 15,000 Egyptians in the army in Syria to crush the uprising.

Radio reports heard in Beirut indicated Syria was divided—with the northern half remaining loyal to Nasser.

Telephone service to Damascus was cut and reporters attempting to cross the border were turned back.

One telephone call from Damascus, and a few travelers reaching the border before the clampdown, reported fighting in Damascus. They supplied no details.

Tonight the Damascus radio issued a call for all military personnel on leave to report to their units immediately.

It also announced that bakers' trucks were exempted from the 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew.

An earlier communique from Damascus said the revolutionary Continued on Page Six

Best Meat Bargains at Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef in one form or another will decorate many American dinner tables this weekend, judging by specials featured by supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores.

Bargain cuts appear to be most popular, with chuck roast heading the parade in the East and ground beef getting the big play in the Midwest and Far West. The more expensive items also divide along more or less regional areas, with offerings of rib roast in New England and other Eastern spots compared with steak specials in parts of the South, Midwest and Far West.

Hams are the big item in a few areas, but most pork cuts are less popular. Pork chops are up 10 cents a pound in parts of the Midwest. Fryers, too, are among the missing as prices rise 4 cents a pound over a fairly broad area. Farmers have felt that chickens have no way to go but up after falling to record lows during the summer.

Eggs are up a penny or so a dozen in some areas, but still run well under year-ago levels. Legs of lamb and veal also are featured items in parts of the East and Midwest, while fish features include scallops, smelts and perch fillets.

A fair variety of fresh fruits and vegetables are on tap in produce departments, offering the thrifty shopper a number of attractive buys.

Cabbage, onions and potatoes head the list of outstanding buys, with the latter two especially attractive where they're available from nearby fields.

Sweet corn and tomatoes are still attractively priced. Other plentiful items are carrots, endive, escarole, rutabagas, snap beans, sweet potatoes, celery, peppers, squash, cucumbers, beets, cauliflower and eggplants, mushrooms, radishes, spinach, parsnips and turnips.

Lettuce bounced up into the fairly expensive category this week. Broccoli and parsley also are more costly.

Lemons and a wide variety of grapes are tops among fruit bargains. Plump purple concord, green seedless, red ribbers and tokays are among the big grape crop.

Bartlett pears, limes, prunes, an increasing diversity of apples and oranges also are fruits to look for. Honeydew melons remain on the bargain list somewhat later than usual. Avocados, bananas and grapefruits also are featured.

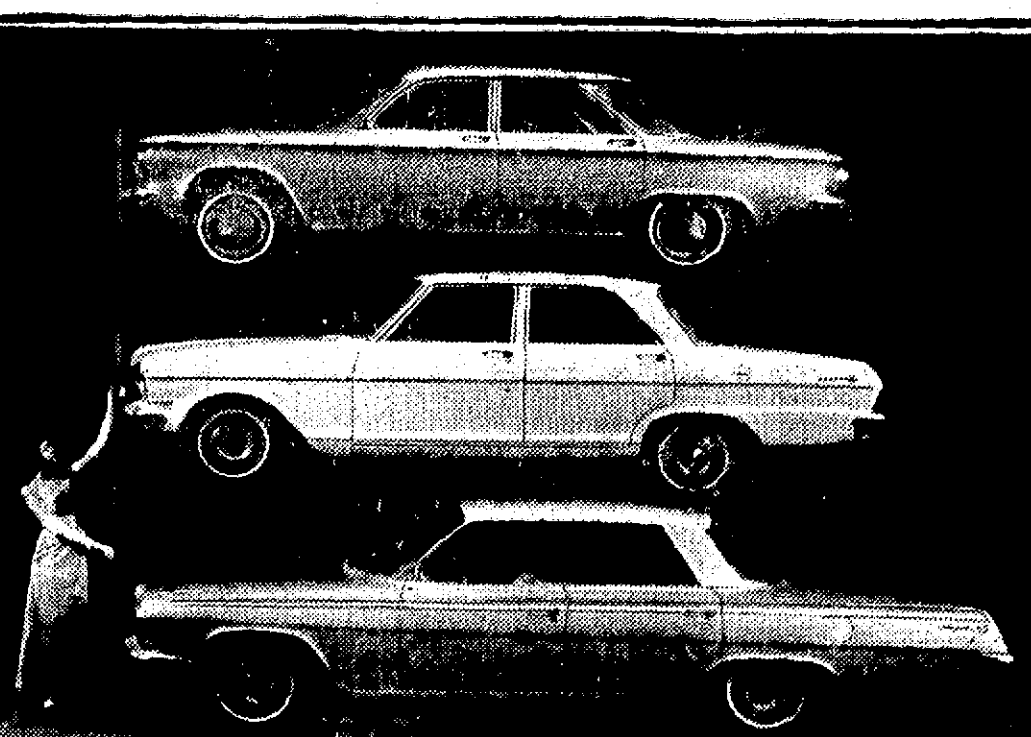

New arrivals include New York peaches, New England apples, California parsley, Mississippi honeydew melons, Colorado cantaloupes, Delaware sweet potatoes, Tennessee watercress and Italian chestnuts.

Chevrolet Offers 3 Lines for 1962

The wide range of choices Chevrolet dealers will offer for 1962 is hinted in this three-car photograph. Pictured to compare over-all length are (top to bottom) the 180-inch Corvair 4-Door Sedan; the 183-inch Chevy II 4-Door Sedan, and the Impala Sport Sedan which measures 209.6 inches. They are representative of 32 passenger car models which Chevrolet dealers will start displaying September 29. The new Chevy II's bow in on the same date as other Chevrolet-built cars.

Right of Self Protection Is Upheld

NEW YORK (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest believes that man has a moral right to use violence to keep his unprepared neighbors from entering the family fallout shelter after a nuclear attack.

Writing in this week's issue of the Jesuit magazine "America," the Rev. L. C. McHugh, an associate editor of the periodical, said in an atomic bombing that possession of a fallout shelter is likely to be equivalent to life itself.

So, he said, if a neighbor deprived a family of its shelter, or forced his way in to use up food and facilities sufficient for the family alone, it would mean that some members of the family might have to die.

"Nowhere in traditional Catholic morality," Father McHugh wrote, "does one read that Christ, in counseling nonresistance to evil, except pacifism, would deny a man the right to protect himself and his family.

"But my own approach," he said, "is that preparation for an atomic war, such as building fallout shelters, is immoral. The moral thing is not to prepare for the survival of a fraction of the human race, but to put all our efforts into avoiding such a catastrophe."

A noted Protestant theologian said he would not want to comment for attribution on the idea until he had seen the magazine article in full, but added, "It seems wrong to me."

Rockefeller on Top for GOP's Bid

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon's decision to bid for the California governorship brightened the prospects today of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

The former vice president's announcement in Los Angeles, on Wednesday night that he will seek the GOP nomination for governor does not necessarily eliminate him as a contender for a second presidential try.

Nixon pledged to serve a full four-year term if elected governor. But while declaring himself out of the 1964 presidential race he declined to say he would not respond to a draft. He was asked specifically about a draft and replied: "I shall not seek the presidency in 1964."

Nixon made it clear several weeks ago that if he ran for governor and was elected, he would not expect to enter any state presidential primaries in 1964.

His chances for the presidential nomination thus would be dependent on the development of a nationwide draft movement in his behalf, with the hefty California convention vote serving as the basis of his strength.

Rockefeller, who already has announced for re-election next year, might find himself in a position in a second term where he could enter such primaries. And Sen. John F. Kennedy proved in 1960 they furnish valuable momentum toward a presidential nomination.

Nixon's decision ties him largely to California issues for the more than a year that will elapse until the November 1962 election. This will mute the voice he has been using as titular head of his party on national and international issues.

If he is elected, he is likely to have his hands so full with a hostile Democratic legislature there won't be much time for the detailed homework necessary to stay abreast of the ins and outs of national and world problems.

Rockefeller, on the other hand, would be likely to have a Republican legislature and be relatively freer to make out-of-state speeches on major issues and push the organizational work needed to win a nomination.

As governor of California and a former national GOP standard bearer, Nixon would have a

Parents Fined for Neglecting Child

MEMPHIS (AP) — A 5-year-old Arkansas boy faced nine months in the custody of Juvenile court here today.

His parents drew penal farm terms for cashing worthless checks and officers said there was no relative willing to care for him during the sentence.

Gene Barnett, 35, of Brinkley, Ark., and his wife Gwen, 36, pleaded guilty in criminal court. The boy will live at the court's shelter for dependent children.

strong position in the party, where he retains far wider support than Rockefeller has yet been able to assemble.

But Republicans are likely to remember that while Nixon carried California last year, he could not make the grade in New York and didn't win the presidency.

A New World of Worth from Chevrolet for '62!

'62 Impala Sport Coupe—with a roof line that looks like a convertible's

'62 CHEVROLET Rich new styling with Jet-smooth ride!

Here's everything a car fancier could want. Fresh-minted style that comes to a climax in the sportiest sport coupe you've seen yet. A road-gentling Jet-smooth ride. A new choice of V8 skedaddle. Rich Body by Fisher interiors. Beauty that's specially built to stay beautiful. Here in '62 is more than ever to please you from the make that pleases most people.

It's like owning an expensive car without the expense. Check it over from its clean-thrusting prow to its rakish rear deck. Look inside the deep-well trunk. Then—head for the open highway. That sittin'-on-satin feeling you get is Chevrolet's famous Jet-smooth ride at work—with a pliant Full Coil spring cushioning at each wheel. The standard six and V8 are triggered to do special things on regular gas, and for real hair-trigger reflexes you have a choice of four optional-at-extra-cost V8's with output all the way up to 409 hp. ■ Hard-working helpers (like the new steel front fender underskirts that guard against corrosion) give this '62 its built-for-keeps beauty. Even the heater and defroster come as standard equipment this year. This is the kind of car that will make you feel luxurious all over, and your Chevrolet dealer will be only too happy to show you how easy it is to have one of your own.

Corvair Monza Club Coupe

THE '62 CORVAIR MONZA

Meet the car that puts sport in the driver's seat! Bigger new brakes and Corvair's renowned rear-engine traction offer just about the surest footed going on the road. A new Monza Station Wagon makes its debut. And all models sport freshly tailored upholstery inside matched by sassy new styling accents outside.

This jim-dandy's got the stuff that drivers dote on. ■ Backstage you have a standard aluminum air-cooled engine that turns up 80 hp. (or if you like more razzamatazz, one that uncorks 102 hp!). ■ Sure enough, there's independent suspension on all four wheels to keep the ride as amiable as ever. Inside, you'll find a heater and defroster, cigarette lighter, dual sunshades, front-door armrests and automatic choke as standard equipment on most models. ■ There are lots of reasons for liking what's new—and tried and true—in the '62 Corvair. And your dealer's eager to tick 'em off for you.

*Optional at extra cost.

Chevy II 300 4-Door Sedan

HERE'S THE NEW CHEVY II

Here's modern basic transportation in a totally new line of cars with all the solid, time-tested Chevrolet virtues—plus some surprises you've never seen on any car before. A full line of easy new-size models. Thrifty? Choice of a frugal 4- or spunky 6-cylinder engine (in most models). Roomy? Sedans seat six solid citizens. Price? A real pleasant surprise!

This plucky new Chevy II comes about as close as a car can to perpetual motion. ■ All nine models (station wagons, a hardtop, even a convertible will soon be available in the lineup) are designed to save you money and service. Major front-end sections, including fenders, bolt on for easy replacement in case of damage. The heater and defroster are yours as standard equipment. Tough—but ever-so-gentle—Mono-Plate rear springs eliminate the friction of old-fashioned multi-leaf springs. ■ And, maneuverable and sensibly sized as this Chevy II is, it gives you the kind of room that'll make many a "big" car wonder how it's done.

See the '62 Chevrolets, the new Chevy II's and '62 Corvairs at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

What Rights Have Wives?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: We live near my husband's home town. It is full of his family, friends and business interests. I come from a distant city. My relatives live far away. After bearing and rearing his four children I still feel like a stranger in my husband's world. Never having learned to drive, I am trapped since there is not even a bus to take me to town. But if I did drive, he would say he couldn't afford a car for me. So, I'm stuck here at home day in and day out.

Since he devotes his evenings to church business we rarely have time together save on Sundays when we and the children attend church. And, when we are together, he claims up, with the result that we lead separate lives.

I would like to share his and have him share mine. Hasn't a wife a right to know about her husband's interests in church, business and outside activities, not to run his life for him but to enjoy what he enjoys and sorrow when he sorrows?

He opens all the mail, including mine, first. What rights, if any, have wives? What can I do to make my life worth the living?—L.

Dear L.: Women were given the right to vote in 1920 but many of our other rights remain in the limbo. Aggressive wives usually assert their rights, whatever they may be. And this is debatable. Others, like yourself, continue in a state of innocuous destitution, totally at the mercy of husbands' whims.

However, a husband is legally responsible for his wife's support and when he dies she inherits a portion or all of his property, depending upon the state in which they reside. Your husband has no right to open mail addressed to you. But, generally speaking, our rights (I'm speaking of myself as a wife, as well as of you) are largely what we make them.

If each of us lives up to our marriage vows we are doing pretty well. Since your husband is such a devout churchman, reread the wedding ritual to him. Call his attention to the thought embodied in it—that a husband and wife are not two persons but one!

Dear Helen: My parents and I are having a dispute. I need a car. My prospective job depends upon this. In desperation I located a '54 auto for $55. My savings will pay for it, the insurance, licenses and repairs, leaving a surplus of $50.

My parents refuse to let me have it. Being under age—I'm 17—going on 18—I can do nothing. Or can I? I'm a responsible person, handle cars well, and never had an accident. My parents say if I have an accident, they will be liable. What can I do?—Car-less.

Dear Car-less: I don't go along with your parents' negative reasoning. Since you are enterprising to rustle up the money for a car and stake out a job, you should be encouraged, not discouraged. If you are the driver you claim to be, ask the officer who gave you a driver's test to put in a good word for you to your parents. A letter from your prospective boss might also help. Your insurance should protect your parents.

Dear Helen: I am 34 have four children and live apart from my husband. A domestic relations court officer has been handling my case. Of all the people in my unhappy life he is the only one I've ever been able to trust and turn to in trouble.

Yes, the inevitable happened. I fell in love with him! We've not seen one another for over a year but he once gave me every reason to believe he cared. This longing for the sound of his voice, the touch of his hand, or even a letter from him, is unbearable. Can this really be love, or is it only loneliness?—Faithful Reader.

Dear Faithful Reader: It may be that the man felt he did wrong. Continued on Page Four

Porkers Are Favored to Take Tulsa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southwest Conference teams drilled through hard mid-week workouts Wednesday mindful of a rough weekend ahead. Six inter-sectional and one conference battle round out the schedule.

For the most part, coaches worked their squads long and hard. This was especially true at Texas Christian.

TCU coach Abe Martin, whose team faces the No. 3 power in the nation Saturday, Ohio State, expressed dissatisfaction with the Horned Frogs Wednesday.

"The team got real high for Kansas. Now they're dragging," he said. They outlasted Kansas 17-16 last week.

Southern Methodist's Mustangs, who got the weekend rolling with Southern California Friday night, batted up on their defense Wednesday. The Ponies, fresh from a 14-6 loss to Maryland, hope to shake a 13-game losing streak.

Texas A&M coach Jim Myers put his Aggies through an extremely heavy workout.

Myers said, "It was the most contract work we've done in some time." He predicted a tight ballgame with Louisiana State in Baton Rouge Saturday.

Texas Tech and Texas got the conference season rolling in Austin.

The Texas Longhorns drilled on passing offense and Coach Darrell Royal said he is pleased with the aerial game.

At the West Texas camp of Texas Tech, J. T. King stressed pass offense and defense.

The Baylor Bears looked sharper in all phases of offense Wednesday during a final hard workout before meeting powerful Pittsburgh Saturday.

Rice will be out for a second big win Saturday when they tangle with Georgia Tech in Atlanta. But the Owls will be without the services of starting right end Gene Tacz and second team right guard Walter Ligon. Both were injured in last week's 16-3 victory over LSU.

Mickey Cissell, a fullback and place-kicker who was Arkansas' leading scorer last year sprained an ankle in practice Wednesday and will probably miss Saturday's game with Tulsa.

But Arkansas is an overwhelming favorite over Tulsa.

The top offering in Ford's station wagon line for 1962 is this four-door, nine-passenger Country Squire (top). The power-operated rear window is standard in this Squire as well as in the six-passenger Country Squire and in the nine-passenger Country Sedan. The Galaxie nine-passenger wagon has the only forward-facing third seat in the low-priced car field. Tailgate openings on all of the wagons are more than 50" wide. This Galaxie 500 two-door hardtop (bottom) is one of twelve models being offered in Ford's expanded Galaxie series for 1962. The sculptured body of the 1962 Galaxie gives the appearance of actual motion to its unmistakably classic Ford lines. This appearance of movement is emphasized in the recessed Thunderbird-like rear window and in the forward thrust of the roof itself. The new Galaxie series will feature an industry first—"Twice-a-year" maintenance.

The Ford F-100, (top) and Falcon Sedan Delivery (bottom), are two members of Ford's 1962 fleet of light duty trucks. The F-100 one-half ton pickup is powered by the Ford "223" six or optional "292" V-8, both proven economy leaders. The three-man cab features wide-opening doors with no dogleg and handle-operated latches that make the tailgate easy to open and close. Standard body is the Styleside with integral cab-and-box construction. The Flareside box, with wooden floor is optional on F-series pickups. Standard power plant in the Falcon Sedan Delivery is the economical 85-horsepower six; optional is a more powerful 101-horsepower engine. Low loading height and an easy-to-operate tailgate are customer-convenience features. Styling changes include redesigned fenders, hood line, grille and rear taillights, and new standard and deluxe interior upholstery and trim combination in the cab.

Ford, O'Toole Likely World Series Starters

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring a change in plans between now and next Wednesday, the opening game pitchers for the 1961 World Series will be left-handers Whitely Ford (25-4) for the New York Yankees and Jim O'Toole (18-9) for the Cincinnati Reds.

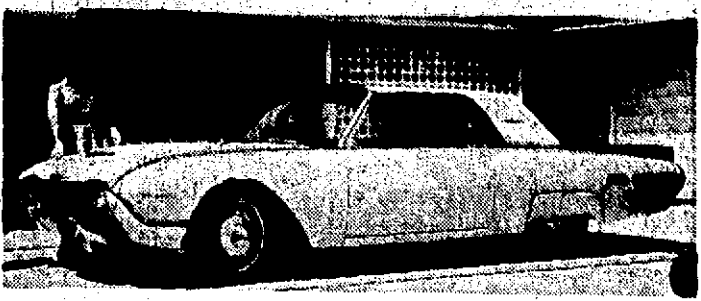

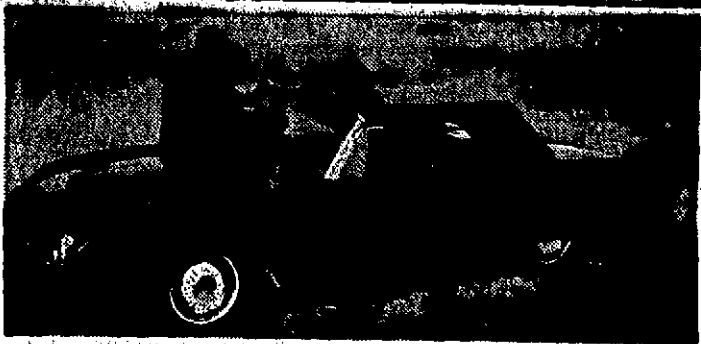

Both managers—Ralph Houk of the Yankees and Fred Hutchinson of the Reds—have indicated they will employ no more than three starters in the series, even if it goes the limit of seven games.

Right-hander Ralph Terry (15-3) will pitch the second game for the Yankees. Joey Jay, another right-hander with a 21-9 record is expected to be Hutchinson's second game choice. The first two games, starting Oct. 4, will be played at Yankee Stadium.

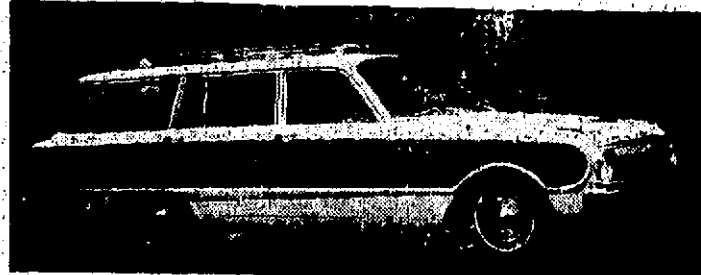

Right-handers Bill Stafford (13-9) of New York and Bob Purkey (16-12) of Cincinnati will be the opposing pitchers in the third game at Cincinnati's Crosley Field on Saturday, Oct. 7. After that, it will be Ford against O'Toole again.

Houk said he probably will use right-handers Jim Coates, Roland Sheldon and left-hander Bud Dalrymple as his "long men" in relief, thus preserving his relief ace, Luis Arroyo, for the final innings.

"Long man" is a term baseball people use for relief pitchers who are called upon in the early innings. A "short man" is a bullpener of the type of the Reds' Jim Brosnan and Jim Henry, and also Arroyo, who are not summoned until the seventh, eighth or ninth innings. Such pitchers usually come in to preserve a slim lead or when the score is tied.

Thunderbird for 1962 offers a new Landau hardtop (top) in addition to the standard hardtop and convertible models of America's prestige car. The Landau model is a vinyl covered hardtop with a distinctive "S" bar on the rear roof panels. This new color with any exterior or interior color combinations. The Landau, along with the other 1962 Thunderbird models, retains the car's traditional classic styling and incorporates more than 100 engineering improvements. Like all 1962 Thunderbirds, the standard hardtop model (bottom) features a new, square-block design grille and many exterior and interior styling refinements. All 1962 Thunderbird models, representing the widest selection of Thunderbirds since the car's introduction in 1955, will be displayed in Ford dealer showroom, October 12.

A new addition to the Falcon line for 1962 is this Falcon Squire. (top) a standard, four-door, six-passenger station wagon with simulated wood exterior trim that imparts a custom-crafted look. The Falcon Squire is a "dressed-up" luxury wagon with all the basic advantages of Falcon economy and maneuverability. With the second seat converted, the Squire boasts a big, flat and level cargo space of more than 76 cubic feet. The Deluxe Club Wagon (bottom) is one of three "family fun vehicles" being offered in Ford's Falcon line in 1962. The Deluxe Club Wagon is designed to carry eight passengers, or easily convert into a camping unit, a mobile home on wheels, or an all-around utility vehicle with 204 cubic feet of cargo space. The big double doors swing back to give a side opening of more than 49 inches. This wagon features a deluxe interior with a two-tone pleated vinyl trim scheme carried through seats, doors and side panels.

It would require a railroad reaching from El Dorado, Ark. to New York City to handle all the petroleum products produced in Arkansas this year.

College Picks for Teams in Arkansas

By WICK TEMPLE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Arkansas and Arkansas State have opportunities to square themselves after resounding defeats last week in Saturday's football action.

Both will be seeing their first home crowds. Arkansas is a heavy favorite over Tulsa and State gets a one-touchdown edge over Florence State of Alabama.

Arkansas Tech and State Teachers the major contenders in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference, are favored over Arkansas A&M and Ouachita.

And Southern State is a 12-point favorite in its opening conference game with Harding.

Here is the week's outlook:

Arkansas 24, Tulsa 6. Three touchdowns and a field goal for the Hogs. Tulsa has a good passing attack but couldn't stay on the field with Memphis State last week. Also, the Hogs should be out to prove themselves after that thing in Jackson.

Arkansas State 14, Florence, Ala. 7. Quarterback Jim McMurray and halfback Sammy Weir should get at least two touchdowns against a team like Florence. And State's big line should be able to stand up despite the beating by Louisiana Tech.

Arkansas Tech 20, Arkansas A&M 0. The defending champion Wonder Boys got their offense in gear against Harding last week and A&M hasn't scored in two games with Mississippi teams.

Southern State 19, Harding 7. Harding hasn't lived up to its pre-season hopes and Southern should be tough after the fiscal experience with Mississippi College last week. Also, the Muleriders have a good offense which didn't jell last week.

Henderson 14, Ozarks 0. Ozarks is untested and could be mediocre or awful, as last year. And Henderson proved against Austin College (21-0) that it has both defense and offense.

State Teachers 27, Ouachita 12. Ouachita is the only upset bet of the day, but the Bears should be able to use their manpower and experience advantage.

M&M Taking Off for a Little Rest

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax broke a 58-year-old strikeout record. Little-used Al Schroll made a strong bid for a no-hitter. But the big baseball noise was made by Roger Maris—and he took the day off.

Maris, who hit his 60th home run Tuesday night and received a thunderous ovation, almost had his membership in the club revoked Wednesday when he took a much needed rest.

The Yankee slugger, with three more games remaining against Boston in which to become the most productive one-season homer hitter in major league annals, left the bench in the middle of the game with Baltimore and was booed by many of the 7,504 fans, on hand to see him swing.

"I think he did what was right for him," said Manager Ralph Houk after the American League to the Orioles 3-2. "We agreed it would be best for him to sit this game out. Besides, it wasn't his decision; it was mine."

The Yankees also played without Mickey Mantle, No. 2 man in the M & M combination. Mantle, who has hit 54 homers, has been bothered by a virus condition for the past 10 days, and finally was ordered to bed by the team physician.

Maris said: "I'm plain lashed. I was so tired I could hardly run. Naturally I want that 61st home run, but I think it is for my best interest and the club's for me to be in the best possible shape for the World Series."

The day off gives Maris a two-day rest as the Yanks are idle today. They wind up the regular season with a three-game set against the Red Sox before tackling the National League champion Cincinnati Reds in the World Series.

Without Maris and Mantle, the Yankees proved an impotent group against Steve Barber (18-12), who gave up a homer to Vogt Berra among six hits. Jim Gentile's two-run homer, his 46th, off Bill Stafford (13-9) in the first and rookie Johnny Powell's run-producing single—his first major league hit—in the third won it for the Orioles.

Koufax brought his season strikeout total to 289 by fanning seven Phillies and bettered the 267 compiled by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants in 1903. But the Los Angeles Dodgers southpaw lost to Philadelphia 2-1 on a pair of unearned runs in the third inning.

The Dodgers, however, clinched second place when the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the third-place San Francisco Giants 5-3 on Bill Mazouzi's two-run homer in the eighth.

Chicago downed St. Louis 5-2 on homers by Danny Murphy, running at third unit fullback and rookie Ken Hubbs and George sharing the kicking chores with Allman. Schroll (4-3), a burly game, sophomore end Jim Grizzle.

This Falcon four-door sedan highlights the compact car's new styling for 1962. While still "distinctively Falcon" the top-selling Ford compact features a new grille, new front fenders and hood and larger taillights, but still retains the inside-outside dimensions of its predecessors. On the interior, the instrument cluster has been revamped and there are new fabrics, styles and colors for all models. The new Falcon line, to be introduced by Ford dealers on September 29, will feature a total of 13 models.

The 1962 Ford Galaxie line features a crisp, fresh approach to Ford's classic styling. Shown here is the Galaxie 500 Sunliner convertible, one of twelve models in the Galaxie line. While the new Galaxie is slightly shorter and fractionally narrower than the 1961 model, the large passenger compartment is the same as 1961. Large door openings, coupled with Ford's convenient two-position door stops, make entering and leaving the Galaxie an easy and natural movement. The Sunliner top is anchored at each roof bow to prevent "ballooning" when underway. The vinyl-lined top is stowed under a color-keyed boot.

less for eight innings and then to 23-9 as Detroit whipped Kansas in Boston's 6-1 victory over Chicago. City 10-2 on homers by Rocky Crago, and Los Angeles' Angels Clavillo, Norm Cash and Bobby Davenport Washington 6-6 in another Morton, Jim Fagliarini drove in night game with a three-run rally two runs with a homer and double in the eighth.

command me with Amer and that an understanding had been worked out. It said the situation had returned to normal, but did not explain what this meant.

By WEBB MCKINLEY
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syrian officers revolted against President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic today, but a communique later indicated the uprising may be at an end.

The communique said the revolutionary command met with Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, the U.A.R. army commander in chief, and worked out an understanding.

"Military questions have now gone back to their normal course with reliance and trust in the wisdom of the commander in chief of the armed forces and the commander of the 1st (Syrian) army, about carrying out the objectives of the armed forces and of the United Arab Republic," the communique said.

Earlier rebel broadcasts had said Amer, Nasser's top man in Syria, had been arrested as part of a pre-dawn uprising.

Radio Damascus, calling the statement a "United Arab Republic broadcast," declared the situation had returned to normal "because of the wisdom" of Amer and the Syrian army commander, Gen. Gamal Faisal.

"We are lucky to achieve the aims of the United Arab Republic armed forces command," the communique added.

The broadcast said the rebels had submitted the problems and aims of the army to Amer who "expressed understanding of the true state of affairs of the army and took adequate measures to solve these problems."

What the problems were was not explained.

Nasser had warned the rebels earlier in a Cairo broadcast that he had issued orders for the 15,000 well-armed Egyptian soldiers in Syria to march on Damascus, the Syrian capital, and stamp out the uprising. Broadcasts from Aleppo in northern Syria said northern Syrian tribes were standing by Nasser.

LONDON (AP)—Problem: Who puts the sauce on the spaghetti—the waiter or the chef?

Spanish waiter Louis Leon's solution landed him in court Wednesday charged with assaulting the chef.

Leon, waiter in a swank Soho Restaurant, thought it was his job, Greek chef Cuminis Achilleas said it was his.

So Leon emptied a plate of spaghetti all over the chef's head, the court was told, and followed up with a swipe with a silver dish. The chef had to have 17 stitches to close the head wound.

The court freed Leon on condition he keeps the spaghetti on the plate in the future.

Senator Is Sued as the 'Other Man'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. J. Lee Bearden of Leachville asked the Arkansas Supreme Court today to quash a summons served on him in a $150,000 alienation of affections suit.

Bearden said the suit was filed in the Lake City District of Craighead County Circuit Court, but the summons was served in the court's Jonesboro District and thus served improperly.

Bearden also contended the suit should have been filed in the Chickasaw District of Mississippi County Circuit Court, the district in which Bearden lives.

The senator's petition asked the Supreme Court to prohibit Circuit Judge Charles Light of Paragould from hearing the case. Light had ruled that the summons was proper and that he had jurisdiction in the case.

The suit was brought by State Trooper Ben Cavins of Lewisville, who formerly was stationed at Lake City. It contends Bearden's attentions to Cavins' wife compelled Cavins to divorce her in October 1959.

The suit asks $100,000 for Cavins, $150,000 for the couple's 5-year-old daughter and $100,000 in punitive damages. Cavins said he and his wife were married in Arkadelphia in 1954 and moved to Lake City in 1957.

Defends Revenue Bonds Laws
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus doesn't think criticism of revenue bonds for industrial purposes applies to his state.

"We're okay. Our law is all right because we have requirement that bond issues must be approved by referendum," Faubus said.

Faubus made the comment after a committee of the Southern Governors Conference Tuesday reported with concern on increasing legislation permitting cities and counties to issue revenue bonds for industrial purposes.

Arkansas allows such issues, subject — as Faubus noted — to a popular vote.

The committee said that local governments, when given the power to issue revenue bonds, "sometimes have the inherent weakness of a relative lack of control or supervision to protect the investors."

Chapter XXIV

While Gocykantz and his brother roisterers were still sprawled in the arms of Morpheus, Gideon Tarbush, Crench College trouble-shooter, called by appointment to converse with Miss Cowgill at Glubby's Gasthaus. It was 10 a. m.

Tarbush hadn't expected to find Dr. Snoddy in the lounge with Miss Cowgill. Lurking at the desk was Glubman, black of eye and full of lip, but with a brave new cigar firmly clutched. It was he who had told Miss Cowgill of the previous night's event.

"Let's go down to my room, Mr. Tarbush," she said.

Tarbush nodded graciously. He glanced at Snoddy and was about to say that the talk was a private matter, but Snoddy took Miss Cowgill's arm and said, "I'm sure I belong in this conference too." They went to Miss Cowgill's unit, where Tarbush viewed with satisfaction the stacks of notebooks and papers piled on bureau and desk, and the sacks of rock specimens overflowing the closet. "I find this a delicate matter," he began.

"There's no need to flounder about," Miss Cowgill said. "The girls made a public spectacle of themselves, and I didn't even know what was going on. I suppose that does come under the heading of faculty misconduct, and I plead guilty."

"She would have caught on to the whole thing yesterday," Snoddy said, "but I deliberately lured her out of town."

"What?" Miss Cowgill said. So that was his real reason for taking her to Muleshoe.

"Yes!" Snoddy turned to the woman. "I'll try to explain my action later, Martha."

Tarbush frowned delicately. "So you didn't know what was going on, Miss Cowgill?"

"They planned and rehearsed the whole performance in secrecy, at least secrecy as far as I was concerned. I won't go into the details. Let's start from the fact that it was my fault in not knowing what they were doing."

"I see," Tarbush murmured, still in the foggiest of darkness.

"It wound up in a public brawl, as you well know," Miss Cowgill said.

Tarbush sighed he had expected nothing but a neat little morals case to investigate. Now it was sounding like the Haymarket Riot.

"Where were you when all this was going on?" he asked.

"I was splicing the main brace," she said.

"Oh?" said Tarbush from habit. Then, "You what?"

"Getting drunk."

"She definitely was not!" "We had a bottle or two of Moselle but no one was drunk. Why did you say that, Martha?"

"Because I don't care!"

"Miss Cowgill is a little upset," Snoddy said. "I'm sure you can find out any details you wish to know about the trouble last night by inquiring at the police station, and then do whatever you wish."

Tarbush rose. I'm not the one to pass any judgment. I'm merely here at the request of the Crench president."

He eyed Snoddy and now standing behind him, frowning horribly at this inquisition, a large, impressive group of fat-cat supporters of Crench, dressed in their fishing clothes, buddies of Dr. Snoddy.

"There is another matter, however that has given Dr. Crunch some concern. Again, I am not an accuser, but merely—"

"Don't bother to apologize," Snoddy said crisply. "Just spill it, Buster."

Buster? That was what Tarbush's grandmother used to call him. He drew Mrs. Parmenter's letter from his pocket and gave it to Miss Cowgill, who read it and said "What a mess of nonsense."

Snoddy took the letter. "Do you know who wrote that, Mr. Tarbush? My former wife."

"Ah!" said Tarbush. Now he was really seeing.

"I suggest you go talk to her. Get facts, Mr. Tarbush. None of us will be content with anything less than documented facts, will we?"

"That's right," Tarbush said uneasily. Unpleasant business, and undoubtedly the whole accusation was without foundation, but he would have to see it through.

Outside, he ran straight into Stephanie and Lucile, who welcomed him to Wonderful, and then Stephanie said, "If anything unpleasant should happen to Miss Cowgill as a result of our little play last night, we would be terribly unhappy, since it was all our fault — and no harm was done."

"We realize, of course," Lucile said sweetly, "that Dr. Crunch will take the responsibility for any action."

A happy thought, Tarbush nodded.

Still smiling, Lucile said, "We had a little cloakroom session this morning and we agreed that our fathers just might be as unhappy as we would, if anything not nice should happen to Miss Cowgill, once we explained the whole affair in its full, innocent light."

Doesn't Seem to Be Friendly Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., quoted the State Department today as saying it erred in advising him that 48,000 cans of a concentrated diet substitute have been shipped to South Viet Nam under the foreign aid program—that the actual number is 4,812.

He said he first was told none had been shipped, then given the 48,000 figure, and now the 4,812 total.

"Actually," he said, "it doesn't make much difference, because if they shipped one can it was too much."

Williams had used the 48,000 figure in an earlier statement.

"Who 2nd graf 16

she asked, "Do you talk a lot there?"

"Not all the talking," the mayor replied, "the councilmen do their share."

"Well," Susan proposed, "why can't you do all of your talking at the first then and come on home?"

Wins $152,31 in British Soccer Pool

LONDON (AP)—A coal miner, Keith Nicholson, 23, struck it rich today with winnings of $152,319 pounds 8 shillings—$426,294.32—on a soccer football pool. He proposes to buy a home in the country and become an artist.

Nicholson, who has been in the pits at Castleford in Yorkshire since he was 15, brought off the big gamble on an outlay of 3 shillings 5 pence 1 farthing—49 cents.

This represented the cost of 165 changes at a farthing—about one-fourth of a cent a chance at picking eight soccer games on last Saturday's English League program which would result in ties. There were 10 ties and Nicholson was the only gambler to pick eight of them.

For years, the young miner has dreamed of becoming an artist. Recently, working in his spare time, he had been turning out water colors which he was able to sell for 50 shillings—$7—apiece.

"It has been my ambition to start working in oils, but up to now the materials had been too costly," said Nicholson, whose coal mine wages averaged 24 pounds—$67.20 a week. "Now, with the future secure for the wife and kids, that's what I am going to do."

The Nicholson family has three children—Susan, 3, Williams, 18 months, and Howard, 8 months.

Said Nicholson's wife Vivian, a spectacular blonde: "I'm going to spend, spend—cocktail dresses and all the lovely things I have always wanted. Washing machines for both our families and oh, so many things. My head is in a whirl."

After you top that fruitflavored chiffon pie with whipped cream, sprinkle the cream with grated lemon, orange or lime rind. Pret-ty to look at and tastes good.

Service Normal on Frisco Lines

BAY, Ark. (AP)—Service was normal on the Frisco Railroad's main line and only one of 25 passenger trains in a two-train collision Sunday remained in serious condition today.

Tracks were repaired Monday. Removal of all wrecked cars was expected to be completed today.

Eight persons remained in a hospital in nearby Jonesboro, but only Alice Bailey, 72, of Memphis, passenger train.

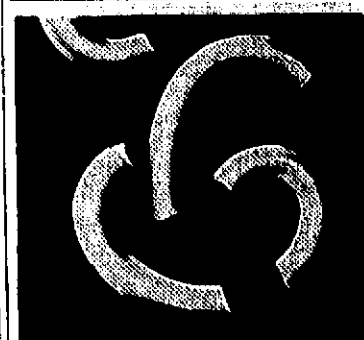

Tenn., was listed in serious condition. She has a head injury.

A total of 19 cars were derailed and damage was estimated by Frisco officials at more than $50,000. Sixteen cars of an 88-car freight train left the tracks and slammed into a three-car passenger train waiting on a siding for the freight to pass. A broken axle on a freight car was blamed for the crash.

All the injured were aboard the

Bears Bear Watching in Bear State

By BOB HASING
Associated Press Staff Writer

The bear facts are that the bears bear watching in what used to be the Bear State.

Which is to say that Arkansas has black bears that are considered dangerous when cornered, and less ago was known as the Bear State hasn't had any injuries from bear-people battles.

The topic of bears arose again recently with two reported sightings near Jonesboro, where bears were first reported in 1858.

Over the years, since the Game and Fish Commission imported a few bears from Minnesota, there had been reports of bear activity, but few actual sightings.

Then one morning the late Lotus Coksey of Jonesboro came across a bear in a vegetable garden. He chased it up a tree. A crowd gathered. People looked up at the bear. The bear looked down and growled. Finally a game warden coaxed him away from town.

But the next night another bear — or the same one, took up a perch in another tree. Again he finally was lured out of town.

Last year a mama bear and two cubs were treed at Bay, a day or so after they'd been spotted in the Newport and Ottwell areas. The pattern of crowd gathering, bear growling and eventual chase to the woods was repeated.

It was repeated the next day at McCormick, to, but then both cubs were killed and the mama bear disappeared.

That was the end of the bear stories until a deputy sheriff spied one near Jonesboro this month. Now there'll probably be another seige of bears in trees.

But has anybody seen the Clarks-ville lion lately?

Stuttgart football players shouldn't lose any teeth in this fall's gridiron battles — thanks to the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Jaycees combined forces with the city's dentists to make mild latex mouth guards for all the players. Next year, all Arkansas football teams will have to have such guards.

There is always danger in guessing about the weather, as a Texas hotel and an Arkansas newspaper demonstrated unintentionally recently.

While the paper's front page was filled with the horror of hurricane Carla's rages on the Texas Gulf Coast, inside the paper the hotel was advertising "Family Fun! Just Wonderful!" including "balmy breezes, golden sand and the sparkling sea" on Galveston Island.

Eight-year-old Susan McCollum didn't want her father, Stuttgart Mayor Lloyd McCollum, to leave for a city council meeting.

She demanded if he had to go. Yes, he did. Couldn't he plead illness? No, he couldn't. Finally

Living Cost Has Dipped a Little

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living dipped one-tenth of one per cent in August, the Labor Department announced today, mainly because of plentiful fresh foods at lower cost.

The department said consumer prices have risen one-half of one per cent in the first eight months of this year, less than during any comparable period since 1955.

This stability was achieved in spite of July's jump of nearly one-half of one per cent which carried the index to a record of 128.1 per cent of the 1947-49 average, used as a base. The downward movement last month brought the level to 128 per cent.

That meant that the typical assortment of goods and services making up the living costs of the average city family cost 28 per cent more in August than in the period immediately after World War II.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the net advance for this year stemmed mainly from steady increases in the cost of used cars and the price of various services including rents, medical care, entertainment costs and public transportation.

Clague predicted the index will show a rise for September, for two reasons—an increase in used car prices is expected before the arrival of new models on the market, and the introduction of fall clothing lines will boost the apparel index following the late season summer clearance sales.

October's index normally would rise, Clague said, because of new car models selling at or near their list prices. November and December may bring a downward movement as meat prices fall.

Despite the August living costs decline, about 120,000 workers in aircraft and missile plants and small metal-working firms will get cost-of-living pay boosts under wage contracts tied to quarterly changes in the consumer price index. The quarterly index was up .01 per cent.

Some 100,000 employees of North American, Lockheed and Martin aircraft companies will get a cent hourly increases. About 20,000 workers of Republic Aircraft will receive two cents.

The contracts for about 580,000 workers in the steel industry would permit a three-cent increase in hourly pay, but Clague said it is not yet known whether all or part of this increase will go to the workers in cash starting Oct. 1, or will be used in offsetting the increased costs of insurance for the workers. In December, a three-cent increase was used to cover the insurance rise.

The spendable earnings of factory workers in August were slightly below the record highs of June and July. After deduction of income and Social Security taxes, the average take-home pay of a

Yield: 6 servings

Peel 6 large even-sized Idaho Sweet Spanish Onions carefully to preserve shape. Cut a slice from the top of each. Using a skewer, pierce each onion several times through the center to keep whole while cooking. Place close together in saucepan or Dutch oven in 2 inches of salted water. Cover tightly. When water is boiling, reduce heat to simmering point. Cook until not quite tender—30 to 35 minutes. Drain onions upside down. When cool, scoop out centers (a grapefruit knife is handy), leaving a shell about 1/2-inch thick. Centers may be chopped and added to diced carrots or peas for a second-day vegetable, or added to stew or soup for seasoning.

Stuffing:
2 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons melted butter
1/4 pound sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded (1 cup, rounded. Shred more for topping.)
salt to taste
4 strips bacon, broiled and broken into bits

Combine all ingredients, mixing lightly with a fork. Fill onion cups with the mixture and set in a buttered shallow baking dish. Sprinkle shredded cheese over top of each onion. Bake in 350 degree F. (moderate) oven about 35 minutes. Serve hot. Other fillings for these delicious Sweet (all that the name suggests) Spanish onions may be corned beef hash, baked beans, or a savory mixture of ground leftover roast meat or cooked ham, soft bread crumbs, butter, seasonings. A good way to disguise leftovers!

Soil Bank Deals Are Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman today canceled six soil bank contracts which he said would have brought Wayne E. Tallman, Brandon, Colo., rancher, $271,000 over a 10-year period.

The law fixed an annual maximum payment of not more than $5,000 for each producer.

Freeman said in a statement that the six contracts were on land owned by Tallman.

The statement said that in 1957 Tallman bought a 6,960-acre ranch for $139,200, and rented the land to six other individuals who placed 3,379 acres under six soil bank contracts that year.

The statement said the cash rent paid by the six to Tallman approximated the amounts they receive annually in soil bank payments.

The department's general counsel's office said the six renters already have collected about $103,000 in payments, at the rate of about $27,000 annually.

Freeman said information gathered in a department investigation has been turned over to the Justice Department for "such further action as it deems appropriate."

Services Are Important to Economy

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Services are the fastest growing portion of the economy and today take about 40 cents of every dollar consumers spend. They have provided the biggest increase in the number of jobs. Also they have accounted for much of the rise in the cost of living.

Indications that consumers will pay more than $140 billion this year for all types of services leave some businessmen far from happy. They are the makers of hard goods, like autos and appliances, and the merchants who sell both hard and soft goods.

Their worry: If the consumer spends more and more on services, there is less of his spendable dollar left to go for goods.

But many of the services owe their very being to making and sale of these goods. For example, when you buy a home appliance you please some utility company as well as the merchant and the appliance makers.

You'll be using the services of someone to install the appliance, and in time you're likely to use a repair man. Also you may need the services of a financing company and an insurance company when you buy a car or a major appliance.

There's another side to it, as noted today by the economics department of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York. When you buy an appliance you may be cutting down on the need of some services. Example: The declining importance of domestic service workers. Or when you buy a car, you may cut further into the need for intercity rail and bus transportation.

Since 1946 consumer prices as a whole have gone up 52 per cent while the average rise in the service component has been 65 per cent. Department of Labor statistics show a wide variance in the rise of service prices in the last 14 years. Electricity rates on average have risen 11 per cent, while the cost of a hospital room has gone up 205 per cent.

Commerce Department figures show Americans spent $19.6 billion last year for household operation, including electricity, phone, gas and water charges, domestic service and miscellaneous expenses.

Another $20.6 billion went for interest paid on nonmortgage debt, life insurance, legal, investment and bank fees.

Medical service accounted for $18.2 billion. Outlays for hospital care went up most, followed by payments for medical insurance.

Transportation took $10.5 billion recreation $6.4 billion; personal appearance $6.1 billion; religion and welfare $4.7 billion; private education $4.5 billion; and foreign travel $2.6 billion.

In the last 14 years the fastest growing item was interest on non-mortgage debt.

Few Soybeans Combined Yet
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Some cotton is being picked, but few fields of rice or soybeans have been combined so far, the Crop Reporting Service said today.

But the service said harvest operations should increase this week.

Cool weather slowed opening of cotton bolls and dry weather in some eastern counties has reduced yield prospects for all three major crops, the report said.

Junior fullback Ron Hatcher was voted the outstanding performer of spring football practice at Michigan State.

Special Jap Session Opens

TOKYO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito today opened a special session of the Japanese Diet (Parliament), badly divided over measures to curb political violence.

The political violence bill passed the lower house in a stormy session this spring in which the aged speaker, Ichiro Kiyose, was prevented by the Socialists from reaching the rostrum. It was shelved in the upper house and now comes up for renewed discussion.

Left-wing labor groups, students and Socialists plan demonstrations against the bill, which they say is aimed at them.

Worker with three dependents was $83.40 a week in August; for a worker with no dependents, $75.79.

Even so, the slight dip in consumer prices brought to factory workers a buying power which was 2 1/2 per cent above a year ago and an August record.

Hunting and fishing added about 75 million dollars into the states' economic stream last year, experts estimate.

Focus on Health for This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Danger at home for unwatched children, marrying cousins in Japan, and the great American sick call are subjects for focus on health.

Danger at Home
Mother, if you're holding down a job and have young children at home, beware!

A study shows that children of working mothers are more likely to become accidentally poisoned by swallowing drugs, cosmetics, insecticides or other dangerous household chemicals. In over 460 cases, 80 per cent involved children of working mothers.

Other findings: peak age of danger was 29 months. Boys were more often the victims than girls. Aspirin and other drugs were the poison agents in two-thirds of the cases. Peak danger hours were between 10 a.m. and noon, between 3 and 5 p.m. Danger areas were the kitchen, bedroom and the bathroom.

Kissing Cousins
Is there danger for offspring of marriages between first or second cousins?

University of Michigan geneticists have made a study of such blood line marriages in Japan. They say, "While we are not recommending that you marry your cousin, in Japan, at least, the results are not as bad as people thought." The study, growing out of earlier work with atomic bomb victims in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, traced the death rates of children from blood line marriages.

Sick Call
The average American lost 16 days from work or other usual activity due to illness or injury in the year ended June 30, 1960.

Six of those days were spent in bed, the U.S. Public Health Service reports. Geographically, the lowest number of lost days were reported in the north central United States, the most in the South. Women lost more time than men. The higher income groups lost less time than the low income groups.

School Opinion on Child Transfer

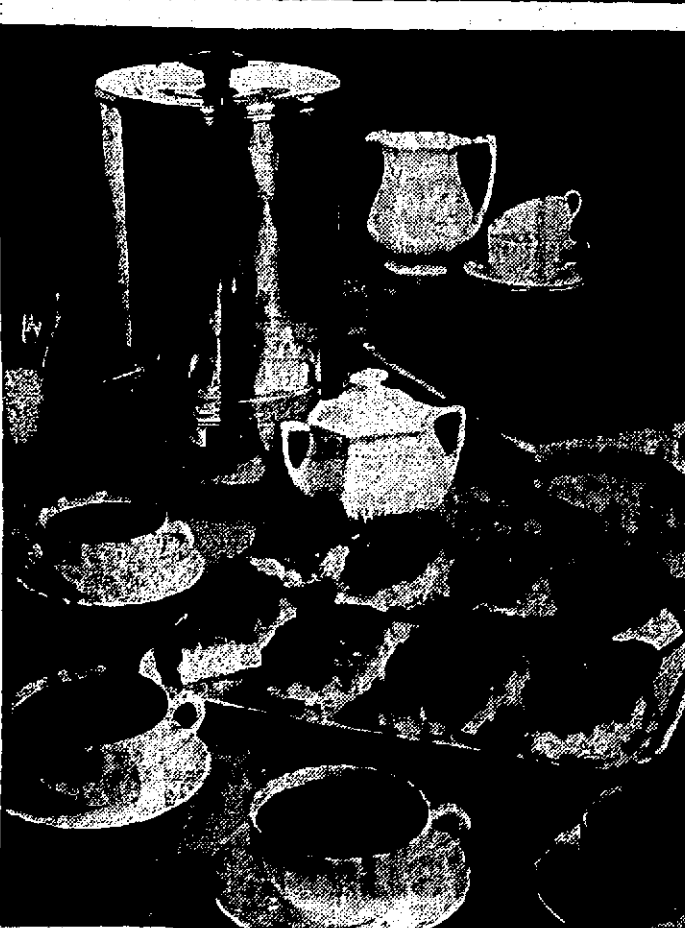

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office said today that Arkansas law since 1931 has made no provision for transfer of taxable property from one school district to another because of transfer of an individual child.

An opinion to Mrs. Opal Cooper, Craighead County school supervisor, said, however, the law permits the school district in which the child lives to make cash payments to the district where he attends school.

In an opinion to J. J. Coker, Faulkner County tax assessor, the office said the Arkansas constitution prohibits exemptions on property except that used for public purposes.

Quachita County Judge J. B. Croft was told that a justice of the peace may serve as a delinquent tax collector, but cannot be appointed a member of a county welfare board. The law excludes elected officials from welfare board membership.

Hot Coffee and Nut-Topped Cake Star at Parent-Teacher Meetings

If you have children in school, chances are you're well acquainted with the P.T.A. And what better way is there to work out school problems and programs than at parent-teacher meetings? Nowadays, the meetings are pleasant social gatherings, too, with the coffee urn going constantly and a tasty dessert standing by.

If you're in charge of refreshments for the next meeting, this White 'n' Spice Cake is perfect for a crowd. The cake itself, made from cake mixes, couldn't be simpler. Best of all is its crowning touch, a luscious Pineapple Nut Topping!

You'll probably want to serve the cake about mid-meeting, but the coffee should be available as soon as parents arrive. Somehow, school problems solve themselves more easily when everyone relaxes with a cup of coffee in hand.

White 'n' Spice Cake

2 packages white cake mix
1 package spice cake mix
Pineapple Nut Topping
Grease 2 oblong pans, 13"x9"x2"; flour lightly. Prepare 2 packages white cake mix and 1 package spice cake mix as directed on package. Into each cake pan, pour half the white cake batter. Cover each evenly with half of spice cake batter. Bake cakes as directed on package. Cool in pans. Spread with Pineapple Nut Topping and broil as directed. Makes about 24 pieces.

Pineapple Nut Topping

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup drained crushed pineapple
1/2 cup chopped almonds
1 cup flaked coconut
Cream butter and sugar. Blend in remaining ingredients. Spread on baked cakes. Place under broiler, 5 to 6 inches from heat. Broil 3 to 5 minutes or until bubbly and beginning to brown. Makes enough for 2 cakes 13"x9"x2".

Business on World Basis Unruffled

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The troubled times emphasized by President Kennedy in his speech to the United Nations still haven't ruffled noticeably U.S. business planning on the world scene.

Private investment dollars are still pouring abroad. And sales of foreign branches of U.S. firms are rising faster than exports of goods produced here.

Both the foreign host nations and the American corporations doing the investing are reported still happy on the whole. Gains in friendly lands, such as in Western Europe, have more than offset losses in unfriendly ones, such as Cuba.

Two top executives of the U.S. oil industry—which has been having a bit more than its share of troubles of late—take a look at different aspects of foreign investments.

One stresses the outpouring of U.S. government aid and the rising competition of foreign products here. The other reminds the host nation that while U.S. investment abroad are reaping harvest of sales and earnings, the foreign lands are gaining too, and in more ways than one.

The second view is expounded by M. J. Rathbone, president of Jersey Standard Oil, in Buenos Aires on the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Jersey's affiliate in Argentina.

The American reminds the Argentine government that until a few years ago it was spending over a quarter of a billion dollars a year in foreign exchange to pay for oil imports. Then it started welcoming U.S. capital for exploration and development. By the end of this year, Argentina should be self-sufficient in oil for the first time in its modern history.

"Many countries," Rathbone points out, "have found that arrangements with private oil companies give them a stake in one of the world's biggest gambles—entirely without capital cost to the country."

Another side of American involvement abroad is taken up by Gen. Swearingen, president of the Indiana Standard Oil. Speaking in Fort Worth to the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association on the impact of government on business, he takes a look at U.S. government assistance to other lands.

"From July 1, 1945, to June 30, 1960, the United States made available to foreign nations a sum of nearly $26 billion in various types of foreign assistance, grants and loans," Swearingen notes.

Even after all types of repayments and detentions of grants have been considered, by June 30, 1962, "our net foreign assistance program will represent the astronomical sum of $36.5 billion," he said. Then he notes one prospect on which the oil industry has had good taste—the Soviet competition. The oilman warns that "as the years go by, the American economy will be forced to compete with the state-controlled economy of the Soviet Union in many areas of the world."

Swearingen pleads for less government interference with private business so that it can grow and expand—to be strong enough, or one thing, to beat off increasing Soviet competition.

In its 2,650-foot drop to the sea, the Columbia River builds up such tremendous energy that the river system contains 40 per cent of the United States' hydroelectric potential.

Elderly Woman Falls to Freedom

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—A 77-year-old woman hung from a second story window on the border between east and west Berlin Communist police tugged at her hands, a West Berliner at her feet.

Finally, she fell into a West Berlin fire net unharmed. A photographer recorded the scene Sunday at Bernauerstrasse, one of the streets where the Houses are in East Berlin and the sidewalk in the West.

West Berlin police refused to give the woman's name, but they told this story:

Early in the morning, Communist police came into her flat and said she would have to move. She argued, and other tenants backed her up. The police went away — not very far, apparently — and someone managed to notify West Berliners.

At 11:30, a West Berlin fire truck drove up and the firemen spread their net. First, the woman threw out a shopping bag containing a few personal belongings, and — a witness said — her cat. Then the old woman herself climbed out and stood on a ledge below the window.

A small crowd of West Berliners gathered.

There were cries of: "come on and jump!" But she couldn't make up her mind. A young West Berliner climbed on to the ledge of the bricked-up ground-floor window. He slipped and fell into the net.

A second climbed up and grabbed at the woman's foot. Her shoe came off in his hand.

At that point the Communist police showed up at the window and grabbed her by the arms. Up she climbed the two West Berliners again. One caught her by the leg. He pulled. The police tugged.

22 Mayors Will Fly to Germany

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A delegation of 22 mayors will fly to Germany Saturday as a demonstration of American unity behind President Kennedy's policy on West Berlin.

Taylor Hayden Burns of Jacksonville, president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, will head the delegation.

The group will take along messages from mayors of hundreds of U.S. cities endorsing the President's policy. Burns will present the messages to Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin at a luncheon Oct. 1.

Finally the West Berliner just dropped, still hanging on to the woman's leg. They landed together in the net.

A West Berlin newspaper quoted her as saying: "I always hoped to die in that apartment. I lived there so long. They told me I couldn't even do that. So I went."

No Hope for Softening of Soviet Stand

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. delegates saw little hope today that the Soviet Union will soften its position in replying to President Kennedy's call for new negotiations on disarmament and the Berlin crisis.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is expected to hold fast to the Kremlin's over-all stand on these and other international issues when he makes his policy statement before the 99-nation General Assembly.

Western diplomats and many neutrals were impressed by Kennedy's broad new disarmament proposals to freeze nuclear weapons production and stockpiles as soon as controls can be organized.

They also were impressed by Kennedy's overtures to a Berlin settlement coupled with his blunt warning that if the Soviet Union tries to take over the divided city, the United States stands ready to use nuclear weapons.

Kennedy's challenge to the Soviet Union to join in a race for peace leading to full disarmament made no visible imprint on the Communist bloc members who sat silently while the rest of the hall applauded.

Gromyko's first reaction was noncommittal. Talking with newsmen outside the Soviet U.N. mission on Park Avenue he was asked if he saw any hopeful signs in the speech. "I would not go so far," he said. "I want to study it more thoroughly."

He repeated Moscow's announced intention to sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany, adding that some aspects of the speech "do not meet our objections regarding the possibility of negotiations on Germany."

Little hope was held for progress on the arms question at this stage in view of the discouraging report the Soviet Union and the United States made to the United Nations last week. The two powers disclosed complete failure to agree during three months of discussion on a way to resume full East-West negotiations.

The main sticking point has been Soviet insistence that the makeup of any new disarmament conference should be based on the "twoika" principle—the same issue that has deadlocked selection of a successor to the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The Soviets insist that participants at an arms conference be divided among three numerically equal groups of nations—Communist, Western and neutral. The United States has offered several alternative proposals.

Russia Seems Set to Ease War Threat

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Soviet reply to President Kennedy's U. N. address raised guarded hopes today that the Soviets may be ready to ease the threat of war over Berlin.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko turned down the President's bid for a nuclear test ban treaty, stuck to the Soviet line on general disarmament and insisted on a three-man board to replace the late Dag Hammarskjöld as U. N. secretary-general. Nevertheless there were ca-ing sounds amid the threats in Gromyko's policy speech before the General Assembly Tuesday. Gromyko stressed that the Soviet Union intends to sign a peace treaty with East Germany whether the West likes it or not. He declared that a war over the divided city could take hundreds of millions of lives.

The Soviet foreign minister also warned the West against "spoiling threats" on Berlin and then repeated the Soviet proposition that West Berlin should be a "free city" with free access.

The joker in this proposal, from the Western viewpoint, is that the city's communications would have to be underwritten by what Gromyko described as "appropriate agreements" with Communist East Germany. The West does not recognize the East German regime and insists on its own rights in Berlin.

However, Gromyko suggested the United Nations might take a role in West Berlin to help avoid conflict. Delegates noted that in discussing possibilities for the future status of Berlin, Gromyko said the Russians would agree to "the use of troop contingents of neutral states or United Nations troops as guarantors of the status of the free city."

This created the impression that Gromyko was laying the groundwork for bringing the Berlin problem before the United Nations in negotiations with the West collapse.

Apparently the Russians feel they can marshal the votes among the nonaligned nations to support their position if the tension builds sufficiently.

Many delegates felt that Gromyko's 1-hour and 45-minute speech contained little new, although there were some signs of giving ground. Neutrals felt encouraged by what they viewed as a moderate tone.

Gromyko ignored the new U. S. step-by-step disarmament program but produced all the standard Soviet objections to its premise—that disarmament must be inspected, verified and controlled. He said such control would only benefit Western military leaders and serve as an excuse for them.

Not only did Gromyko reject Kennedy's appeal for an immediate nuclear test ban treaty—he wants the question lumped with all disarmament problems—but he defended the Soviet resumption of tests.

"The Soviet Union is compelled to do this by the actions of the NATO powers," Gromyko said. Gromyko touched only briefly on the question of filling the vacuum caused by Hammarskjöld's death. He demanded that the Security Council—where the Soviets can veto any candidate—take up the problem first and solve it "on the basis corresponding to the actual situation in the world."

This is the Soviet phrase meaning a three-man board of Communist, neutral and Western representatives, each with a veto. Several hours later the Soviets came up with a slight shift from Premier Khrushchev's original "troika" proposal. They suggested appointing one top official for the U. N. secretariat with three deputies. They would have to agree on all decisions, thus giving each a veto. The top official would be only a figurehead.

101 Ways to Kill Time on the Job

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The average American office worker knows at least 101 different ways of killing time on the job.

Experts, of course, know a lot more. The methods of wasting time range all the way from mere paper shuffling to hiding out in the rest rooms or taking a secret nap in the supply room.

Over the years each office employee finds his own favorite and successful means of loafing constructively on company time so that, come dusk, he'll have stored up enough strength to enjoy the evening doing as he pleases.

In a class by themselves are those who stare out the office window. It may seem simple to waste time staring out a window, but to do so and still give the impression you are busy with company problems is a very difficult art. Those who get away with it are among the elite actors in the office zoo.

Here are some types of window stargers you may be familiar with in your own firm:

Sneaky Sid—The middle-aged bookkeeper who is cleaning his glasses. But actually he is looking through the lenses at a shapely lass crossing the street a block and a half away.

Tricky Tessie—The pretty secretary gives every impression she is paying full attention to dictation. But every time the boss turns his eyes to the ceiling for a helpful phrase, she looks out the window and tries to play peek-a-

Bishops Get Episcopal Church Plan

DETROIT (AP)—Wheels were in motion today for securing an official denominational checkup on operations of the National Council of Churches.

Passed overwhelmingly by the Episcopal House of Deputies, the plan now goes before the church's House of Bishops.

At the same time the two-chamber church congress gave its full blessings to an attempt to unite a broad swath of America's organizationally divided Christianity.

The final okay came when the bishops Monday approved minor amendments in the reunion seeking project that had been tacked on by the law-clerical branch, the House of Deputies.

This cleared the way for the 3½-million member church to enter merger talks with the United Presbyterians, the Methodists, the United Church of Christ and the Polish National Catholic Church.

In a different vein, the deputies pointedly declared that the National Council does not speak for the Episcopal Church—without its specific authorization. And they called for a comprehensive study of council practices.

However, they soundly rebuffed demands that their church quit the council.

They also overwhelmingly rejected efforts to block the council boo with the handsome young lawyer in the office across the way.

Hangover Harry—He isn't really looking out the window at all. He is only wondering, "Maybe if I opened it and jumped out the pain would go away."

Fly-Specking Phil—Going... to each of the 27 office windows in turn, the third vice-president rubs a bit of dust off each with his fingers, then announces loudly, "It's about time someone told the building management these windows need cleaning again. Why, I have to think of everything around this place?" He has killed half a day once a week with this pet routine for the last 28 years. A real pro, this old boy.

Amateur Albert—An eager beaver in the personnel department, he actually does find company problems crowding into his mind whenever he looks out the window. A pitiful case, doomed to early ulcers.

Hard-Up Herbert—Shaking his head and jingling a few coins in his pocket, he strides back and forth by his window. He gives the air of being deep in thought over a way to speed up production. Here's what's really on his mind: "Who can I hit up for lunch money today?"

Nonchalant Ned—The top salesman sits with his feet on his desk and carelessly sails paper airplanes out the window. Everyone admires him because he doesn't have to pretend. He's the only guy bringing fresh money into the firm.

Wistful Wilbur—This is the boss himself. When he looks out the window he has a vague impulse to raise it and cry "Help!" He knows that somewhere in the crowds below must be a few people he could hire and really get some work done around the office. But which? Who? Where? There they are—the window stargers, the elite of the office time-wasters. Recognize yourself?

Coincidence Twisted Like a Pretzel

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Coincidence has a long arm and NBC's new cops-and-psychos series "7th Precinct," twisted it like a pretzel Monday night.

Mental cases have almost completely replaced old-fashioned robbers in TV's police action series, so we're accustomed now to knowing hearts killers with sinister impulses. Monday night's very sick man was a fellow who fancied himself—and literally was—a lady killer. His penchant for having his victims-to-be painfully tortured was the important clue to his capture.

We also had the deaf mute wife of a police sergeant suddenly deciding to have herself tortured. While in the needle artist's parlor she just happened to run into the killer her husband was after. Now that's a rare coincidence.

Pretty Gena Rowlands plays Teddy, the deaf-mute, and is a member of the regular cast, too and all.

Robert Lansing is her husband, detective Steve Carella; the only looks a little like Robert Stack of "Elmer Ness" fame, but plays in the same intense, grim style. There are three other detectives too, and presumably they will rotate the leading parts from week to week. All the other shows with multiple heroes do.

Next Sunday's "Meet the Press" guest on NBC will be Frederick Boland, Ireland's delegate to the United Nations and past president of the organization. Boland takes the seat originally reserved for Jack Paar, who at the height of his Berlin show controversy asked for a chance to take his case to the people. "Meet the Press"—and probably the NBC brass as well—apparently had some second thoughts about this and the invitation was withdrawn.

Adenauer Plans Retirement

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced on British television Monday night that he plans to retire. But his statement made no impression on his political opponents today because he failed to say when.

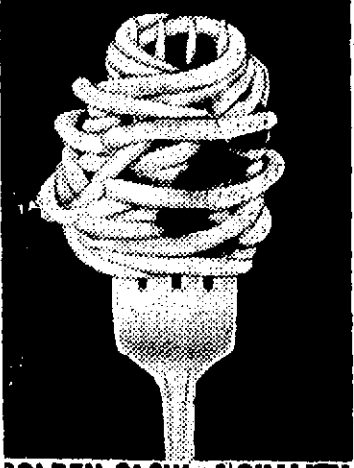

The 65-year-old West German leader told a British television audience he had no intention of remaining chancellor for another four years.

"I've had enough," he said. This is nothing new. He told his Christian Democratic party recently he would relinquish his office "after a certain time" so that his successor could get used to his job before the next elections in 1965.

Government officials said Adenauer's remarks were recorded last Saturday for the program.

from issuing statements about the Christian implications of various social, economic and political issues.

The council, the country's chief agency of interdenominational cooperation, includes representatives of 33 Protestant, Orthodox and non-Roman Catholic denominations with about 40 million members.
